UK Outlook for Sunday 19 Sep 2021 to Tuesday 28 Sep 2021:
Sunday looks to see cloudy conditions and rainfall, along with some brighter periods. The best of any brightness is most likely in central parts, although the odd shower is possible here too. Then into the new week and continuing into the remainder of September it looks like there will be a setup for a northwest-southeast split. The northwest will see the most of any unsettled conditions and outbreaks of rain, which could turn heavy at times, as well as occasional strong winds. The southeast then sees drier weather with plenty of sunny periods, though the unsettled weather in the northwest could still spread here at times. Temperatures are expected stay around average throughout this period.
